

Emmett Farris

President, University of North Florida, Computing, Engineering, and Construction Alumni Association

Emmett Farris is a computer systems consultant who has been in the computer industry since 1984. His experience includes corporate technical education, software development, computer operations, server/network/desktop administration, methodology/process development, and enterprise database warehouse adoption training. Emmett's industry background includes Prudential Insurance Company, IBM Corporation, and Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida. He has been a change agent for a wide range of technical transitions and organizational conversions - including local and global outsourcing activities. He is the current president of the UNF Computing, Engineering, and Construction Alumni Association and is active within the Jacksonville community.